If you are a relative, grandparent or friend sharing your home with children who can’t live with their parents – for whatever reason….this is for you.

Why do kids behave the way they do? What discipline strategies really work? They have been through so much...what will help them feel secure & safe?

What about resilience? How can we help our children handle the tough stuff in life?

Caring Connections is a program for all Kinship Carers. You are invited to:

• learn about ideas and approaches that make sense for these children & young people
• build on your strengths and family resilience
• share your ideas & experiences with others in similar situations

“It is down to earth and relevant... this has been really valuable.”

“It is very informative and you come away feeling empowered”

“(we were able) to speak openly about issues without being judged”
